NOMINATION PROPOSAL

Formatting: A4 paper and minimum 10 point Arial font.

Any nomination failing to comply with formatting requirements and maximum specified space limits (see below) will be removed from further consideration.

This award is for scientists with distinguished track records.

1. Nomination Form

Attach the form on the previous page as the front page of the nomination, with all sections completed.

2. Nominee's educational qualifications

3. Nominee's current and previous appointments and positions

4. Nominee's previous honors and awards

5. Summary of nominee's achievements, contributions, leadership (national & International) and /or impact to the field. [2 pages]

This should be a description of the nominee's major scientific contributions in relation to the objectives of the Award, the significance of these contributions, an explanation as to why the nominee is especially qualified to receive the Award, and a description of the nominee's contribution where the nominee has been part of a research team or teams. Highlight the leadership roles of the nominee in the field of biochemistry and/or molecular biology and the impact to the field. An example of leadership could include heading a national institute or in the case of nominees who are from industry, how the candidate may have initiated or led programmes that had significant impact to the field. Impact can include publications that were highly cited and key for the development of new technologies.

6. Representative list of the nominee's peer reviewed publications (single spaced)

This list should not include abstracts.

The 10 best representative publications with a brief annotation for each paper (not exceeding 70 words) to describe its significance. Numbers of citations, the impact factor of the journal, and the ranking of that journal within its field based on impact factor (specify field if not Biochemistry and Molecular Biology), must be given for these 10 publications.

N.B. A full list of the nominee's peer reviewed publications (single spaced) is required to be attached to the nomination form

7. Citation

Citation that will be used to describe the winner (Maximum 60 words)

8. Proposer and Second Declaration

Nominations without a proposer and seconder will be considered incomplete.

We hereby certify that the information provided is true and accurate to the best of our knowledge.
